In ancient history, the first recorded Olympic Games took place in a glade called Olympia, surrounded by a pine forest on the northwestern coast of the Peloponnesus, in the year 776 BCE.

That was the date when the names of the winners were first recorded, but the games themselves go back another 1500 years at least.

They continued to be celebrated when Greece came under Roman rule until the emperor Theodosius I suppressed them in 394 AD as part of the campaign to impose Christianity as the state religion of Rome.

The games were usually held every four years, or olympiad, which became a unit of time in historical chronologies.;
